Terry Pigden chaired his last Madoc Council meet-ing as Village Reeve Tuesday evening, ending speculation about a judicial recount of the recent election polls.

Following Following the formal council meeting, congratulations and thanks were expressed by Pigden and Reeve-elect Tom Deline as they shook hands, wishing each other the best.

Deline suggested that Pigden's know-ledge of Village Council matters would be valuable to the new council and he invited the Reeve, who said he is looking forward to 'other forward to other interests and projects', to participate in committee work for the village.

Tom Deline won the recent election for Reeve by only 6 votes after a closely, and even bitterlyfought campaign race between the two popular Madoc popular businessmen.

businessmen.
Following the cliff-hanger election, irre-gularities were noted in the voting of some proxies, bringing proxies, bringing about speculation that Pigden would call for a recount.

No mention of the election results was made at Tuesday's final meeting for Pigden. The retiring Reeve read a prepared statement reviewing the counreviewing the coun-cil's accomplishments over the term and making several suggestions for the

What a lovely November!

This past November was a lovely month in many respects, in spite of all the grumbling many respects, in spite of all the grumpling going on.

Just because we got a little rain shouldn't be cause for complaint. There's nothing wrong with rain, is there? The crops would starve and wither, the roads would get dusty.

So it was a bit cold at the same time. So what? Think of all those people almost roasting to death in North Africa. And all those people in the fuel oil business who wouldn't be able to afford Christmas.

Come on, look at the bright side a bit. You got to practice driving on ice well before the holiday season. I'll bet your well is topped right up and there's water in the pond for making a rink later on.

If your roof was leaking, you found out about it in time to get some shingles on before the freeze-up and if you needed work on the car's ignition...well, you needed the work done.

There's plenty of water in the land for next year's planting, especially in the low spots, and who's complaining about dust blowing in the windows from the road?

Nobody's beer got warm. There were almost no boating accidents. The hospital was not crowded with severe sunburn or poison ivy cases. On the other hand there were few sking mishaps or frostbite cases either.

An ideal sort of month, this last November!

Producer contribu-tions will not be required for either hog or slaughter cattle payouts. An amount equivalent to the calculated long-term producer premium has been deducted from the payout the farmer will receive. The Ontario Farm Income Stabilization Commission will mail application forms to hog producers early in December with the first payment to producers expected before the end of the year. For slaughter cattle, application forms will be mailed out in December for those who enrolled in the 1981 beef program. Application forms for others will be available in December from local OMAF offices or the Ontario Income Stabilization Commission. Applications must be submitted by March 1, 1986.

The transitional stabilization and the productions must be submitted by March 1, 1986.

Madoc Peewees lose first in league play

Madoc Pee Wee's dropped their first loss in season play, with a 2-1 loss to Tweed. It was a hard hitting game, which saw Madoc outshoot Tweed 25-20.
Madoc scored first only thirty seconds into the game when Derek Wood made good on a Paul McMaster pass but could not seem to find the mark after that, although they had many good scoring opportunities.

Tweed tied the score at 4:24 on a goal by Chris Hunt.
The winning goal was scored by Godin.

We Canadians are a hardy race; cold and snow are no strangers. So it would seem that we should need little teaching in the art of surviving a Canadian winter. Yet every year, some of us will be found frozen to death in a winter blizzard, and many more will suffer the effects of frostbite and exposure.

The most impor-tant preparation, of course, is clothing, but for active sports you must look at out for active sports you must look at more than simply warmth. Since the greatest danger lies in dampness, often created by sweating, make sure that your winter clothing is in layers, so that you can easily remove clothes as necessary to prevent getting steamed up while working. For warmth under all conditions, even when wet, nothing beats old-fashioned wool. And don't forget to cover your head, since so much of your body heat is radiated through its surface.

If you travel outside cities in winter, you should also prepare your car for a blizzard. If you become stranded, an emergency kit with matches, candles, warm clothing and shovel could make the difference between life and death. If you travel frequently, a box of high-energy foods and a small stove are also essential, along with booster cables, a tow rope, and an axe or saw for firewood. Most experts advise you to stay with your car, but Roderick Rieve, writing in Manitoba Nature, notes that the steel frame of a stalled car can quickly drain away the heat from your body. If it looks like you will be there for more than a few hours, he suggests that you find a sheltered spot in the trees nearby, and build yourself a quin-zhee, A quin-zhee, or snow house, is easily constructed by heaping up a nile of lozes its core, leaving only an entrance hole on the sheltered side. Since a snow house offers superb insula-tion, its interior can draw on the relative warmth of the unfro-zen ground below.

With warm clothes, sleeping bags, and a candle, you may not be comfortable, but at least you will be able to survive just about the worst that nature can dish out in winter weather.

Bantams drop 84 decision

The Bantam B's dropped their fourth decision of the year to Stirling on Saturday with an 8-4 loss. Stirling had leads of 2-0; 5-0 and 8-4 in the game. Madoc outscored Stirling 4-3 in period three but it proved too little, to late. Madoc's first goal came at 12:14 of the third when Clinton Carswell scored. He was set up by Pete Dennison. A minute later Pete Denison and Clinton Carswell combined with goal two, Pete scored this goal.

At 3:11 Les Cassibo scored goal three assisted by Kurt Rosnuk and Terry Albert, Kurt scored Madoc's fourth at 2:42 unassisted. John Chappelle guards the pipes for Madoc.

This brings the B's record to 2 W- 4 Ju. and I T. on the year.

Heroes are a major part of CHSS and it is important for all students to recognize the achievements of these popular indivi-

Madoc defeats Stirling 7-4

In the second period Brian Phillips scored the only goal with an unassisted marker.

In the third, Stirling outscored Madoc four goals to three, but still came up on the short end of a 7-4 decision.

Gerry Brownson, playing his second game out, scored twice to double his count for the year. The first was at 8:53, unassisted. This proved to be the eventual game winner. The second, less than a minute later, was assisted by Rob Perrie.

David Graham scored his second of the game at 3:19 for Madoc's seventh. Patrick St. Germain and Jose McNeil assisted on David's goal.

The organization has been soliciting donations of food and the shelves are already becoming well-stocked with a variety of staple necessities. Although the Madoc Helping Hand is primarily asking for food, they will accept other donations and money to put into needed goods. Distribution of the supplies being organized and managed by the Centre Hastings Adult Day School will be sending some of the foodstuffs home with school children or arranging for items to be sent directly to needy homes. Anyone who would like to recommend a family experiencing a shortage of basic food needs should contact the School at 473-

Chairman of the Madoc Helping Hand, Earl Langdon, stresses that the new organization is in no way duplicating or competing with the Salvation Army's Christmas Basket program. We have been talking about it for some time, he said, 'and it is planned to be an on-going thing, all year round.'

The charitable organization is off to a good start, but it will be the public spirit of the village and surrounding areas that keeps it going. 'It's a wonderful feeling to help somebody who really needs help,' Langdon said.

Fatal accident

A traffic accident just north of Bellevil-le on Highway 62 took the life of Madoc resident Velma Carman and sent Fran London to Belleville General Hospital.

accident happened at about 11:30 PM on Wednesday, Dec. 4th at the intersection of Thurintersection of Thur-low Concession 4 and Highway 62. Snowfall had apparently made the road slippery at the time.

The car, driven by Carman, 55, was northbound and was hit by an east-bound car driven by Wendy Smith, 18, of Bellevilseriously injured.

Smith has been charged with cnarged with Dangerous Driving by the Belleville O.P.P.

Carman was a retired schoolteacher, employed by the Windmill Restaurant, west of Madoc for many years. She previously taught at the Glammire Public School and the Madoc High School.

She was active in St. John's Anglican Church and with the Eastern Star.

Heather Holland, of the Madoc Post Office, has passed us a message from the North Pole. Santa Claus has been getting a flood of mail at his address, as he does every year at this time, and he would like to be able to reply to all the letters arriving at his post box. However, sometimes even Santa has trouble with deliveries. To help him answer his mail, Heather suggests that letters be posted in the special box at the Madoc Post Office no later than December 20th and PLEASE, as always, put your return address on your letters.

She also recommends that children who live conducted a study on the effects of different internal temperatures on the eating quality of roast pork.

Pork center-cut loin roasts were cooked to internal temperatures of .77C (170F), 80C (176F) and 85C

The eating quality f the different samples evaluated by 80 consumer panelists.

Juried craft exhibition

The first juried craft exhibition spon-sored by the Quinte Arts Council will be held February 6-28, 1986 at the Belleville Public Library

Gallery.
Titled 'Quintessence', the show has be organized to showcase original craft works of exceptional quality.

Craftspeople from the counties of Hast-ings, Prince Edward, Lennox/Addington and Northumberland are eligible to submit works by the January 15th deadline.

Two renowned jurors will be select-

In addition, the effects of internal temperature on the yield and cooking time were studied.

The results of the study demonstrated that pork roasts cooked to 77C and 80C did not differ significantly in tenderness, juiciness flavour and acceptability. There was also no significant difference in ant difference in percentage cooked yield and cooking time. Roasts cooked to 85C, however, received significant-ly poorer evalua-tions, had greater cooking losses and required a longer cooking time.

Food Advisory Division has recommended that pork roasts be cooked to an internal temperature of either 80C or 85C. However, from the results of this most recent study Food Advisory Division now suggests. sion now suggests that pork be cooked to an internal temperature of 80C.

The fact that the

The fact that the composition of pork has changed over the past 20 years may explain why the internal temperature of 85C is no longer as acceptable.

The Committee recommended that township residents form action groups and contract chemical sprayers to combat the moth infestations.

The cost of spray-ing will have to be borne by individual property owners, Daley stated. The Council has no legal right to spray private property. however council is willing to help combat the moths by spraying township property including road allowances, he said. Daley stated that council favored the use of Thuricide, a biological insecticide, though it had no objection to the use of Sevin, a carbaryl insecticide.

Three health units have already asked the ministry to apply the regulation to their areas. It takes effect in the Borough of East York Health. Report in Agriculture

Accidental deaths and injuries on Ontario farms would be substantially reduced as a result of recommendations presented recently by the Task Force on Health and Safety in Agriculture.

Established by the ministries of labour and agriculture and food in 1983, the seven-man task force was chaired by Dr. N.R. Richards, formerly of the University of Guelph. Its 52 recommendations cover ways of improving farm safe-ty in the areas of farm machinery, structures, chemi-cals and human factors.

The report calls for broader safety education programs, improved reporting of farm accidents, enhanced safety features on farm vehicles and

Do animals talk to past, animal sounds have been thought to be simply instinctive expressions of emotion, devoid of rational thought. Recent research suggests that we may have underestimated animals and that they may be capable of greater abstraction than we had imagined.

Dr. Robin Dunbar has summarized his views of present knowledge in this area in an article in 'New Scientist'. Perhaps not surprisingly, many research efforts have attempted to detect sophistication in primate communication

For example, vervets in Kenya give an alarm call when they are confronted by a predator. They have three common predators: leopards, eagles and snakes. To both human and vervet ears the three alarm calls sound somewhat differnt response. For example, in response to the eagle' call, the vervets look up into the sky to locate the source of danger, whereas they scan the ground in response to the same call. Do the three sounds represent the concepts leopard, eagle and snake? They may, as it has been observed that baby vervets make only one generalized alarm stynal, but learn as they grow older to make the more specific sounds. Some scientists have speculated that this learning process is akin to children learning to the control of the concepts of the concepts.

Vervets make a different sound, a grunt, when they meet other vervets. These grunts are made in very different social contexts. These contexts are (1) meeting a dominant vervet, (2) meeting a subordinate vervet, (3) seeing a different vervet group, and (4) a kind of good-bye when a vervet_temporarily leaves the group. To human ears, these grunts all sound the same, but when the spectrum of sound is analyzed instrumentally, they prove to be subtly different. Tape recordings of grunts made by an approaching dominant analyzed instruments and the same of the sa vervets to move away, but they ignored the recorded grunts of an approaching grunts of an approaching subordinate. It is very difficult to prove in any sense that animal calls are the result of reagoned throught rather than instinct. Dumbar describes some experiments done on chimpanzes to try to determine whether reasoning is possible. Curiously, the most plausible attempts to show this have centered around whether animals can tell lies deliberately. For example, one experimenter experimenter showed a captive chimpanzee the location of a hidden food source in a large enclosure. The chimpanzee learned where the food was hidden. When other chimpanzees were let into the enclosure, the knowledgeable chimp would lead the way to the hidden food unless there was present in the group a more dominant chimpanzee. In those circumstances, the knowledgeable chimpanzee would lead the others in any direction except that towards the food. The assumption is that the knowledgeable chimpanzee feared losing the food and thus kept it hidden. In other experiments, chimpanzees were taught to use signs to direct humans to a hidden thus kept it hidden.

In other experiments, chimpanzees were taught to use signs to direct humans to a hidden food source that was out of their reach. If the human shared the food, all went well.

Some humans instead took all the food and ate it themselves. When the chimpanzees found this out, they would then misdirect the human to an empty hiding place rather than to the proper one. As Dunbar concludes, 'It is difficult to interpret behavior like this in terms other than conscious intention on the animal's part. But it is something that is extraordinarily difficult to prove in any conventional sense. Indeed, it is by no means universally agreed as to what would count as evidence of consciousness in other species.'

Trip to Candyland

On a cold Christmas Eve not very long ago, there were three children who lived in town and always went out to sing carols on this night. But this Christmas Eve was very strange. Let me tell you the story the way I was told by the three children three children.

On this cold Christmas Eve around 8:30 the children were bundled up and ready to go out and sing carols.

First they went down the streets and by the houses they knew. Then they started down an unfamilar aroad. They passed two houses and then there was another road. The children turned and walked down it too. As they turned to leave, there was a path made out of brown sugar with high gingerbread walls. The walls were decorated with icing of every color of the rainbow.

The children then noticed a sign, above the archway saying: CANDY LAND, EVERYONE IS WELCOME. FOLLOW THE PATH AND THE CANDY CANE

POLES.
The children decided to follow the candy cane poles and go visit Candy Land. When they got there, the elves who lived and worked their met them at the end of the path and brought them past trees made of gumdrops and trees reaching to the ground with candy. They passed ginger-bread houses with strawberry, chocolate and vanillia icecream roofs. But, what the children passed that they liked the best, were the chocolate and caramel mountains and rivers.

When they reached King Candy's castle, he invited them to spend the night and handed them each a sack and told them to pick some of their favorite candies of the trees to bring home. The, children were so delighted, they rushed off with their sacks fluttering in the air, behind them.

After they each picked a sack full of candy, they followed the elves to a little gingerbread house that had a sign above it. The sign said: 'Guest House'. The children jumped into bed and were asleep before the elves finished reading a story to them.

story to them.
When the children woke up they expected to see gingerbread walls but instead they were in their own beds. In surprise they looked around at each other. They all started to say 'I just had the strangest dream...!' They all looked down and saw the sacks of candy by the side of their beds.

Christmas,

Christmas is a happy time
When families get together And Santa always comes
No matter what the weather
He leaves us presents under the tree
And fills a stocking for sister and me When Christmas morning comes We all rush down to see
What surprises we'll find under the tree
After the presents have all been opened
And we have cleaned up the mess
Its out of our nighties and into a dress
Then we all go to Grandma's
For turkey and dressing
And our meal starts out
By asking the Lords
Blessing
When dinner is over
And dishes are all done
Its into the living room
For relaxation and fun

Santa's Job

by Kathy Marie Embury, Age 11, Madoc Township Public School

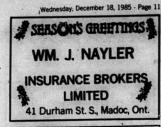

It was Christmas eve night
And all the reindeer were ready for the flight
And all the little busy elves Took all the toys off the shelves.
They carried them to Santa's Sled.
Then packed them neatly on the seat of red.
Then Santa got in his suit and one by one put on his boots.
He waved good-bye to Mrs. Claus.
The elves said good-bye with a big applause.
Santa Claus went on his rounds, Hoping not to make much sound. When Santa Claus was all done, there were no toys left not even one. So Santa left with one big tear And said, 'Oh, I can't wait till next year!'

The Best Present of All

I couldn't wait, for in the morning it was Christmas. I wanted a newborn colt more than anything else in the world but I knew I wouldn't get one. Morning soon arrived. I woke my mom and dad up, then ran downstairs as fast as my legs as last as my legs could carry me. I didn't see a colt. I was very unhappy but then I thought a colt wouldn't be in the house so I still kept on hoping. After we opened our presents and had breakfast, still there was no colt. Oh well, I guess I'll get one next year. After that my dad asked me if I would go out to see if his cow had had its baby yet. When I went out I heard a whinny. I went inside went out I heard a whinny. I went inside and standing there was the most beautiful colt I had ever seen. That for sure was the best present of all!!!

on the hill. All the angels lined up and started to shout, 'Oh me, please me!' But started to shout. Oh me, please me! But at the back of all the lively angels was the littlest angel. Then at last the time came for the last angel to be selected. The littlest angel was desperately trying to push to the front. Just as his little head popped out, Gabriel picked another angel.

As soon as all the other angels were gone, the tiny angel went to complain to God. After ten minutes of waiting, God had time to listen to lear when listen to lam. When the angel was finished God said she finished God said she could do a very important part. He could guide the object that would be the start of it all! He could get the star! The littlest angel packed some sandwiches and left. He flew into the Milky Way and selected a huge bright star and threw it towards Bethlehem to guide the wise men.

Don't be a statistic...

In Canada, there is a large number of young people kiled and injured in high-way collisions. About 1,500 Canadian teenagers die each year in traffic crashes - the number one killer of young people today.

According to official most dangerous time frame for traffic fatalities is between 9 PM to 2 AM.

Of Glen Franks and tradition

BY KEN YARROW

Our system of democracy decrees that all have equal rights, and under this system, one man realized a cherished dream on Dec. 11, 1985. Glen Franks of Huntingdon Town-ship became Warden of Hastings County, a of Hastings County, a much-desired position of dignity and prestige for the successful candidate. The County Council is composed of the reeves and sometimes deputy-reeves of all 30 municipalities of Hastings County.

To be selected from

To be selected from To be selected from this group as leader means you are selected from the highest-ranking council members of the county. makes number four to be elected from Huntingdon Township. First was Thomas Emo in 1875, second Tom T. Fleming. ing in 1944, and third, Elmer Wood 1956.

On the evening of December 11, tradibecember 1, tradi-tion once again surfaced in the town-ship hall at Ivanhoe. The White Lake ladies served an excellent supper of roast ham with all the fixins' as well as real home-made pies to nearly 100 people. to nearly 100 people. While mainly representatives of County Council, not all were. Family relatives were out in force, as well as the Township Council to wish the new warden well

In addition to this, Gail Ross, the former Gail Elliot, treated our auditory senses to excellent musical entertainment with singing and playing of xmas carols. We are all young at heart it seems. One does not normally associ-ate politicians with caroling, but when Gail suggested joining in, it was no prob-lem for the group to sing 'Away in a Manger' without songsheets to follow.

we are Canadians, as our roots are buried in religion, indepen-dence and democracy, so must we always strive to maintain our heritage and our freedom.
With this thought in mind, we extend congratuations to Glen and his wife, Donna, and thank God for people like these to promote our heritage and beliefs.

P.S. The wives did help some with the singing!

One day an Angel appeared to tell Mary that she was chosen to be the mother of God's Son. So, Mary and Joseph made plans. They went to Bethlehem but there was no place to spend the night. So they stayed at a stable.

That night Jesus was born. Kings and shepherds and Wise men came to give him gifts like gold and silver.

Airhart-White wed at St. Andrew's

Jo-Anne Elizabeth Airhart and Wayne Floyd White were joined in marriage by Rev. Mittler: at: X. Andrew's United Church on October 5th, 1985.

'The bride is the daughter of Sheila and the late Grant Airhart of Marmora and the groom is the son of Floyd and Erna White of Stirling. Mrs. Airhart gave the bride in marriage.

The bride's gown was fashioned in organza with a basque waist and full bishop sleeves. Neckline featured Queen Anne collar, schiffle embroidery and Venice lace. The bodice was accented by an organza ruffle and the cathedral train was hemmed in cascading ruffles. The complimentary organza ascot hat was caught up on the side with delicate silk flowers and trimmed with Venice lace and seed pearls.

Howers and trimmed with vehicle lace and seed pearls.

The bridal bouquet was arranged in 3 tiers and consisted of red roses, pink mini carnations, white mums, pale pink stephanotis interlaced with baby's breath and red ribbon.

Do more than just decorate your tree

BY RON REID Federation of Ontar-io Naturalists It's Christmas time shoppers.

Despite the in-roads of tinsel-and-plastic artificial trees, natural everg-reens at $20 and up are still the most popular centrepiece for Christmas for Christmas celebrations.

If you select a natural tree, don't feel guilty about despoiling the natural environment, since almost all Christmas trees are now grown commercially.

However, you can also make Christmas an occasion to help improve the environment, with a little thought.
As a small beginning, leaving your

Some naturalists also decorate a second tree, preferably a live one in their yard, to share Christmas with the birds. Chains of popcorn and peanuts, suet balls stuffed with seeds, pieces of stale cake and cook-ies, and caches of sunflower seeds poked branches into the and crevices can all provide a feast on a cold Christmas rovide a teast on a cold Christmas morn.

You might also want to consider a live Christmas tree, that can be planted after the festive season. Of necessity, live trees are usually smaller, since the potted roots are neavy. A small white pine is usually cheaper and easier to handle than the traditional spruce.

When the potted tree is brought inside, it should be watered well, but make sure that the pot has drainage are not damaged by constant saturation. Hot, dry houses are very hard on live trees, so try to keep your tree in a cool spot, and mist it frequently. If you are careful, a tree can be kept indoors for several weeks without damage, but five to seven days is a better rule of thumb. After Christmas, plant the tree in a hole you prepared before freeze-up. Banking your new tree with snow over the roots will likely also help to protect it from frost damage.

In the rural and northern areas of Ontario, cutting your own Christmas tree is an annual family tradition. Balsam fir. or cedar are a better choice than spruce in this case, since they hold their needles more tightly.

The Beginning of Santa Claus

In a small town called Popcorn, a baby boy was born. His name was Lasan-taria Claus, but for short - Santa. For gifts, he received red pants, red socks, red shirt, and a red coat, and for his birthday. Santa got black bots and a big red sack; also, millions of other toys. Santa thad so many other toys, he became very bored. At the age of twelve, he realized that there were many children that didn't have even one toy.

children that didn't have even one toy. One night, he went out, with his sack full of some of his toys, wearing his red black and white suit, to visit some houses. Santa. of course, waited 'till it was midnight. He then would sneak into the window, and then go into the kid's room. lay a gift at the foot of the bed, and scurry away to the next house. This would take place on the night of December he found it easier to go down the chimney.

He is an adult now, and gets his toys from a workshop or toy store. Santa has fourteen reindeer to fly. That's how he gets that he keeps in the stables. After many years of practicing, Santa finally got his

Winners of the Annual Christmas Contest

Cembal Publications' 1985 Annual Christmas Story and Drawing Contest was the biggest ever, with dozens of schools in the region contributing literally hundreds of entries.

The Cembal newspaper chain covers Campbellford, Hastings, Havelock, Madoc, Marmora, Norwood, Stirling and, of course, all the surrounding areas.

Our editors worked long hours sifting through what they estimate were 1,300 to 1,500 contributions (we gave up counting!), Needless to say, there were many very, very good entries and the decisions to select the top three entries in the six categories were tough ones.

We didn't always agree. In many cases the decision was a toss-up. Many of the entries published in this paper as runners-up may have come closer than you think to being winners.

However, we had to choose and we did, and, as they say, the judges' decision is final. We hope you'll agree that the efforts made by the winners in this contest were supurb, and we're already looking forward to what they'll be able to do next year.

Oshawa captures Mulholland Trophy

Teams from Stirling, Lakefield.
Newcastle, Warkworth, Little Britain, Lindsay, Oshawa and Campbellford met head-on at the Campbellford Arena. on Saturday, Dec. 14th, the overall winner to be awarded the Bill Mulholland Memoriai Trophy.

In the 'B Division, Campbellford.

In the 'B' Division, Campbellford, having lost their first game to the Stirling Blues 3-1, beat out Lakefield by a score of 6-5 to qualify for the finals.

the finals.

Warkworth dropped their first game to Little Britain 74. but beat Lindsay in a very close second game by a score of 54 moving them in to challenge Campbelliford for the B' trophy:

The 'B' Championship saw Campbell-ford come up with a decisive win over the Warkworth team. Final score: Camp-bellford 5. Wark-worth 1.

The Stirling Blues were on a winning streak all day, as they beat Campbell-ford 3-1, and Newcastle 5-0 to move into contention for the 'A'

Division Championship.
Oshawa beat out Lindsay 3-2, and Little Britain 3-2 to advance to the final.
In a very tight,
well-played game,
the Stirling Blues proved that small towns can be very competitive against competitive against-larger centres.

The Blues held Oshawa scoreless throughout the first period. In the second, however, Oshawa scored twice (the second, a short-handed goal) to move into the lead 2-0.

Although most of the play was kept in the Oshawa end, the Blues were stopped repeatedly by the opposing defence. Again, in the third period. Oshawa put the puck past the Stirling goalie. As the Blues fought back, trying to catch up, the period suddenly became marred with penalties to both teams. When the final period ended, Oshawa had captured the 'A' Championship.

Legion President George Bibby presented the Bill Mulholland Memor-ial Trophy to Oshawa team captain Scott Meisner, the medal-lions to the 'A' Divi-sion runners-up. Oshawa goalie Rob Conquer was awarded the MVP

Trophy.
The Campbellford The Campulegion also presented a trophy to the 'B' Division Champions from Campbellford, and medallions to the 'B' runners-up from Warkworth. Dwayne Campbell Warkworth. Dwayne Locke (Campbell-ford) was awarded the MVP trophy for the B Division final.

The Little Fir Tree

Once upon a time there was a little fir tree. He was a lonely tree and wanted so much to be a Christ-mas tree. For years Christmas had come Christmas had come and gone and many people would look in the woods for a Christmas tree. But people would call him him a scrawny tree or just pass him by.

One year a little girl and her father were looking for a tree. Her Dad had promised her he would get a little tree for her room. When for her room. When she saw the little fir tree, she wanted it for her own. So they took him home and decorated him. On Christmas morning Santa left a note. It said; Dear little girl you have a fine little tree. You should tree. You should plant it and take care of it. So she did and every year she would decorate it with lights and she loved it and took care of the little fir tree! JUSTINE DART Age 10, Grade 5 Madoc Public School

But when we went out the next day we went next day we went farther then before and found first the right size but dad forgot the chainsaw right size but dad forgot the chainsaw. When we got back we were too late, someone else got it when we were gone. So we had to go on and then we found another the right size so dad cut it down right away so he could get it before anyone else. That night we put the tree up and decorated it. When we got up in the morning we opened our presents and I got a pair of mittens and a new jacket and other things but I can't name them all. STEVEN PIETSCHMANN Grade 4

One night the stars were bright. Two travellers were passing through town. They stopped many places before finally resting in a stable. People passed by and didn't pay any attention to them. They made a litle bed in the straw. Then all of a sudden the brightest star you've seen lit up the sky. Angels appeared in the sky singing Glory to God in the highest. They appeared to the shepherds telling them about the birth of the Saviour Baby Jesus and told them to follow the star to the manger where he lay. It was the most special night of all. They call that night Christmas. MARGARET GLENDINNING Grade 5 Stirling Junior School

John Runs Away to The North Pole

Once upon a time there lived a boy named John. John was thirteen years old. His mother was always yelling at him. John decided to run away. But he didn't know where to run to. John thought run to. John thought for many days about where to go. Then one day it came to him. He would go to the North Pole and try to find Santa. John packed a lof of food. He knew it would be a long hard journey.

John began his journey to the North Pole
the next morning.
When John was half way there, he met a family of polar bears.
The polar bears didn't look too friendly so John went

The Cabbage Patch Christmas

One day the Cabbage patch kids went out tobogganing. Lylie said look at that big hill. Then April said let's go down it. So they did. Suddenly they heard a voice it was Santa. The little kids ran to him and hugged him.

Then walked back Santa said I will be back tonight to bring you toys. So it was 8:00 clock they rushed up the stairs, jumpéd in bed. Suddenly they heard hohoho upstairs the kids were fast asleep. Santa brought a dress for April. Pants for Lylie. It was morning the kids rushed down stairs and opened their

School plans anniversary celebrations

Fairy Princess weds Magic Broom

The program billed it as a 'Surprise Package' - a skit by the Madoc Township School staff to finish off a delighful Christmas Concert. Surprise Package' turned out to be the understatement of the year when it ended with an amazing wedding annoucement.

The final skit, a slapstick rendition of the Hansel and Gretel' story, was narrated by teacher Wanda Burnside. She seemed to be having trouble keeping a straight face, which was no surprise when she was forced to admit to the audience that some unreadable changes had been made to her script.

If you recall; the story is supposed to end with the Wicked Witch being tossed into the roaring furnace by the desperate children. The actors were expected to take their bows and retire at this point, but Mrs. Burnside continued the story.

The Wicked Witch had been transformed by the fire into a Fairy Princess, who emerged in the form of a dazzling Marie Jackson. To the amazement of all the Fairy Princess then fell in love and married a Magic Broom, played by Principal Art Gough.

The audience sat in stunned silence for a moment as the truth sank in.

No less stunned was Gough himself, who had no idea that their wedding announcement would be made as part of the skit.

Gough and Jackson were married segretly in Belleville on December 7th, but the fact leaked out to the teaching staff at the chool. They plotted the announcement with the help of the bride, keeping Gough in the dark right to the final moment.

of celebration of the anniversary. An initial meeting was held which was attended by a number of staff.

At this meeting a date was set for a 'Home Coming' on Sunday May 18th, 1986. It was felt that the holiday weekend would provide ample time for those who had to travel from afar. It was also felt that further effort to mark the occasion that further effort to mark the occasion could be directed toward the Madoc Fair, the Internation-al Ploughing Match and, at the school, a special ceremony in the fall marking the actual day the school commenced operations.

his seven local papers will be taking their first direct increase in over three years. We have held the line on direct display advertising rate increases for over three years bilt, due to increased costs from the printers, increased costs of materials such as printers, increased costs of materials such as paper, photographic supplies, etc., we are now forced to put through a rate increase of approximately 10 per cent for the New Year, Mr. Cembal said.

The purchase of new computer equipment this year to replace outdated equipment within the company was also cited by Mr. Cembal as a reason for the rate increase. We have held the increase to approximately 10 per cent to reduce the impact of the increase on our advertisers as much as possible. Mr Cembal said.

Heresy!

Every once in a while we are shocked to hear that someone we respected, or called our friend, has said or done something absolutely despicable.

despicable.

So it was recently, when I was astounded to hear that a close acquaintance, a respected member of the community, was indoctrinating his children with a misconception, a warped and unhealthy idea; a dangerous lie, in feet.

warped and unneating total, a unified in fact.

This person, who will go unnamed in spite of my journalistic duty to point him out to the unsuspecting public, is pushing a sordid proposition on his young victims...in short, and I hate to write this...HE SAYS THERE IS NO SANTA CLAUS!

He is couching his misguided deception in the vulnerable minds of little children. His dogma goes something like this: Santa Claus is technically impossible - no one can realistically believe that a jolly old elf actually lives at the north pole making toys, or flies around the world in one night delivering gifts to every child in the world. It is obviously impossible for him to come and go via chimneys - especially with the advent of the airtight stove.

NO SANTA CLAUS: He is couching his misguided deception in some distortions of logic that are obviously warped to suit his needs, taking advantage of the vulnerable minds of little children.

2. Santa Claus is a commercial gadget cooked up by retailers and manufacturers to dupe us all, but especially kids, into unloading our life-savings on unneeded or unwanted merchandise.

savings or merchandise

3. If one looks really closely at Santa Claus, 3. If one looks really closery at Santa Claus, one can quickly and easily see that he is really an ordinary man (usually) dressed up in a rented red suit. All you have to do is work up the nerve to pull hard on that phony beard, and the truth will be known.

REINDEERFEATHERS!

Please, let's not let this kind of diddling with our trusty St.Nick's Very existance go any further. Anyone can use a paper-thin application of so-called scientific logic, or philosophy, to refute any well-established truth.

There is a flat earth society that offers some very convincing 'scientific' proof that the world is not round after all. I submit that I will believe in a triangular earth before I will be convinced of the non-existance of Santa Claus. To answer my confused friend's first argument (is this really necessary?) - in the world of children nothing is scientifically impossible; nothing, If Santa wants to squeak through the vents of an airtight stove, he will find a way, and he won't get burned; he hasn't yet. Santa Claus is not a commercial gadget - he is USED as a commercial gadget, and shame on those who do. Santa was around long before Gobots and Cabbage Patch Dolls, and if you think he is going to bring you one just because some Santa look-alike plugged it on TV and said he would, you've got another think coming. Santa Claus, unlike politicians, doesn't make promises on TV.

And as for the fake Santa Claus' who are really ordinary people dressed up to look like him - beware. Unless you can actually pull off the shaggy white beard, you will probably not know for sure. I personally wouldn't recommend it, you don't make friends with anyone, by going up and pulling on their beards. Often it really is Santa himself, or someone helping him out with spreading Christmas spirit, and I defy anyone to prove otherwise.

There are some phonies out there, though, but if they are trying to push a product, or pretending that money-spending will buy levestience at Christmas time, changes are

'Tis the season to be jolly...'
And so it is!! Yet so many people seem to view the arrival of the Yuletide season with what could almost be described as a grim resignation.

And as the shopping days left before December the 25th slowly tick away, frenzied mobs of shoppers descend on the shopping malls and stores in a desperate attempt to beat the deadline and finish their shopping list. Watching shoppers grapple and battle for the Christmas specials, stripping the shelves bare, flashing credit cards across the counters and empty their pocetbooks, one can't help but feel that somewhere in all the hustle and bustle the true spirit of Christmas has been lost.

Is Christmas really sent to us each year to Despite our constant griping and bellyaching, we as a society are not really all that badly off once we sit down and think about it. In fact, our society as a whole is rich beyond all the dreams of many people living in the under-developed Third World countries. So perhaps we should quit complaining about the so called financial burden of Christmas and start giving from the heart. Is it asking too much that we set aside some money, some time, some effort to share a little of our own wealth to those people that are important to us.

Now is the time to look beyond ourselves and think of those family, friends and rela-tives or others that have been there when you needed them. It's time to show them that you appreciate them. Christmas is a golden

Notice particularly

Notice particularly the words 'Which shall be to all people'. First of all Christmas is for the children, for Christ came into this world as a little child. Christmas belongs to mothers in particu-lar. God has honored all mothers, by making Mary to be the mother of the Christ child.

Therefore, Christ-mas belongs to older people.

Christmas belongs to the poor people. Mary and Joseph were very poor; they had nothing more elaborate than a manger for Jesus the Son of God. Christmas is also for the rich: Well some might say, "Well, if Christmas is for the poor, then the rich are excluded." Not so. The wise men from the East were no doubt wealthy, as well as wise, and they brought expensive brought expensive gifts to the Christ child. Gifts of gold, frankincense and

WANT TO APPEA YOUR ASSESSMEN

You still have time to appeal your 1985 assessment if you feel your home or business property has been improperly assessed

Your assessment is important because the amount of property tax you pay depends on it, in that the assessed value of your property is multiplied by your municipal and school mill rate to determine your 1986 property taxes.

Notices of Assessment have been mailed to property owners and tenants whose assessments have changed since last year. Open houses have been held in your area to answer questions and amend assessment information if necessary. Open house dates and locations were announced in a previous advertisement.

The Assessment Roll has now been delivered to your ne Assessment Holl has how been delivered to your municipality for the purposes of calculating the amount of taxes you must pay on your property in 1986. For information on your assessment, the Assessment Roll is now available for review at your Municipal Office during regular business hours. If you feel your property has been improperly assessed, and you have not yet made your appeal known you still have until January 7, 1986 to appeal known, you still have until January 7, 1986 to deliver or mail an appeal to the Assessment Review Board. And remember, even if you did not receive a Notice of Assessment, you still have the right to appeal.

Appeardeadline—January 7, 1986

The Assessment Review Board is an impartial body reporting to the Attorney General of Ontario, which provides you with an additional opportunity to have your assessment reviewed if, in your opinion, it is not fair and equitable with similar properties in your area. The Review Board is more informal and relaxed than a regular court of law. You may present your own case, retain a lawyer or ask a relative or friend to speak as your agent.

ask a relative or mend to speak as your agent.

To help you in filing your appeal, Notice of Appeal forms are available from the Assessment Review Board, your Regional Assessment Office or your Municipal Office. As well, you can use the reverse side of a Notice of Assessment or write a letter stating the property address and roll number, together with your reasons for appealing. This is a fact that merits special emphasis during the holiday season when there is a temptation to have the extra festive drink with friends or family.

IF YOU DRINK AND HAVE TO DRIVE:

IF YOU DRINK AND HAVE TO DRIVE:
Limit yourself to LESS THAN one standard drink* per hour. That is how long it takes the AVERAGE* male to overcome the effects of drinking. It takes the body (primarily the liver) that long to get rid of the alcohol and its effects.
However, DON'T ASSUME YOU ARE AVERAGE.* Your capacity for drinking may be significantly lower than what is noted above for the average male. This is especially true if you are a woman of slight build, or if you are taking other drugs. And don't take one for the road.

And don't take one for the road.

Allow ENOUGH TIME to let the effects of the last drink wear off—that is, consume LESS THAN one standard drink* per hour AND allow at least ONE HOUR between the last standard drink* and driving.

LEGAL IMPAIRMENT

consume about two standard drinks in the first hour of drinking. For the AVERAGE female, it will take about 1 1/2 standard drinks in one hour to reach 05% BAC. It is important to note that it takes less alcolo to raise the BAC of the average woman. woman

However, it is important to remember that in some indi-viduals significant impairment impairment can occur even at blood levels below .05%. This is particularly true if the person is using any other medication that produces

Most Ontario drivers are aware of the ers are aware of the consequences of drinking and driving. This seems to be especially true during the Christmas season. The number season. The number of motor vehicle fatalities in December 1984 has decreased just over 40% over the past 10 years. There were 94 motor vehicle fatali-ties in December, 1984 according to the Ministry of Transpor-tation and Communitation and Communi-cations. This was five more than in 1983 — the year with the lowest number of motor vehicle fatalities for December since 1974. Nevertheless, it is still important to remember that about half the drivers killed in the province were impaired or had been drinking.

ALCOHOL
TOLERANCE

So why do people continue to drive after they have had too much to drink? Some people appear to have a high tolerance to the effects of alcohol. But in many cases they have only cases they have only acquired the capaci-ty of NOT APPEAR-ING DRUNK.

A person may appear to walk and talk normally, but other less observable and more complex behaviors can be impaired - for exam-ple, the skills and

FARMERS APPLY NOW FOR OFFIRR GRANTS

High interest rates on long-term debt can be a serious financial burden to the family farmer. The Ontario Family Farm Interest Rate Reduction program (OFFIRR) provides farmers with some relief from high interest rates. Under the program, grants are available which can effectively reduce interest rates to 8% for up to $200,000 of long-term debt. These grants -of up to $14,000 - are intended to benefit all eligible farmers with long-term debt.

HANGOVERS:

A hangover is the body's reaction to too much alcohol. in part, it is related to alcohol poisoning, and, in part, it is the body's response to withdrawal from alcohol.

Drinking heavily over a short period of time often results in headache, oversensitivity to bright lights of loud noises, shakiness. nausea, or possibly vomiting. Drinking fluids such as orange juice will help alleviate the effects of dehydration. However, TIME IS THE ONLY CURE for alcohol impairment, including a hangover. Other magic cures really don't work – at best they may result in a more positive state of mind that makes a person more able to ignore the, effects of alcohol impairment or a hangover.

Legislation to control

prescripition cost

Legislation designed to control prescription costs will lead to higher priced drugs in Ontario unless major changes are accepted by Health Minister Murray Elston, the Ontario Pharmacists' Association says.

says.
Two bills scheduled Two bills scheduled to receive second reading in the Legislature on December 5 should undergo 'significant and substantial revision' before being enacted into law, David G. Hannay of the Ontario Pharmacists' Association told a Association told a news conference in news conference in Toronto.

He said the association will urge legislators to 'carefully scrutinize the bills before adopting laws that would work against the best interests of Ontario citizens."

citizens."
Rather than lowering the cost of prescription drugs, which we know to be the government's aim, the legislation will more likely result in higher drug costs," Mr. Hannay said. 'Other features of the legislation will result in consumers being mislead about dispensing fees, and dispensing fees, and will diminish the access of Ontario citizens to the judgement, professional expertise and assistance of other management.

Mr. Hannay, who is immediate past-resident of the OPA and the Director of Pharmacy at the Cambridge Ont., added that pharmacists will attempt to convince the Omario Legislature's Social Development evelopment ommittee to recom ont'd to page 12A

A new regulation

on rabie immunization

A new regulation requiring people in some areas of the province to immun-ize their pets against rabies will take effect December 1, 1985, Health Minister Murray Elston Murray

Murray Elston announced recently. The regulation, which is being added to the Health Protection and Promotion Act, enables the local medical officer of health to require the compulsory immunization of cats and dogs over three dogs over three months of age in his jurisdiction where he months of age in his jurisdiction where he is of the opinion that the program is warranted and will benefit the public.

Three health units have already asked the ministry to apply the regulation to their areas. It takes effect in the Borough of East York Health Unit on Dec. 1 this year, the Haldimand-Norfolk Regional Health Unit on April 1, 1986 and the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit on September 1, 1986. Several other health units have approach ed the ministry to discuss being included in the regulation.

Ministry statistics show that during the first 10 months of 1985 there were 1,651 reported cases of rabies among animals," Mr. Elston said. This is 43 per cent more than the number of cases reported in 1984, when 1,156 cases were reported."

'In addition, so far this year, the number of treatments for human beings who human beings who have been exposed has increased eight per cent from 1,626 in 1984 to 1,758."

While most of the reported cases of rabies occur rabies occur among wild animals such as foxes and skunks, the major threat to people is through pets that have been exposed to rabies in wildlife. Rabies in pets causes between 50 and 60 per cent of human exposures and anti-rabies treatments.

Local medical officers of health are expected to consult with local veterina-rians to arrange for lower-cost rables vaccination clinics to be available once a year in each community where it is made compulsory. Pet owners will receive an immuni-

Rocky IV is both a good movie and a bad movie. Good because movie. Good because it is better than ROCKY III; bad because it changes Rocky Balboa's image as a fighter.

Written, directed, and starring Sylves-ter Stallone, the fourth chapter in the Rocky series has our hero helping his friend, Apollo Creed (Carl Weathers) beat Russia's top boxer, Ivan Drago (Dolph Lundgren), and avenging Creed's tragic death in the ring behind the Iron Curtain against the

Legislation to control prescription cost

Soviet

Cont'd from page 11A mend important changes to Bills 54 and 55. The bills will be considered by the committee next week before they are returned to the Legisfor a final Criticizing the Ontario government for proceeding with the legislation without prior consultation with the OP OPA Mr. Hannay said Bills 54 and 55 have created needless confrontation between government and pharmacists" and according to the and according to the OPA position paper, this could have been avoided if the Health Ministry had consulted with the profession first, which it refused to rofession first,

'We see no merit in a rush to pass legisla-tion without adequate consultation between all parties concerned," the OPA position paper says.

Pharmacists also object strenuously to object strenuously to the government assuming the power to arbitrarily estab-lish maximum dispensing fees with-out negotiation with the profession. The OPA recommends OPA recommends negotiation between pharmacists, with the use of hinds pharmacists, with the use of binding arbitration if agree-ment cannot be reached.

reached.
Mr. Hannay listed the OPA's major concerns with the proposed legislation,
the Ontario Drug Benefil Act and the Prescription Drug
Cost Regulation Act.
He said the proposal to require pharmacists to post notices of a single maximum dispensing fee would be misleading to consumers, because the pharmacy with the lowest fee may not have the lowest overall price. This is due to the fact that pharmacies will be required to charge required to charge the 'actual acquisi-tion cost'. In the result, this cost will vary between phar-macies, depending on volume buying and other factors. In addition allowable volume buying and other factors. In addition, allowable dispensing fees will vary, depending on the type of drug.

'A pricing system based on the actual acquisition cost is more a likely to increase drug costs because there will no longer be any market. longer be any market incentive for manu-facturers to offebr, or pharmacists to seek, the most competi-tiive and advantageous prices," according to the OPA position paper.
Pharmacists will be discouraged from negotiating purchas-ing advantages. Manufacturers will Manufacturers will find less price competition in the market, a circumstance that can only lead to higher lead to Instead, the OPA advocates adoption of a 'lowest possible cost'' system based on the recommendation presented to the government in 1984 by Dr. John Gordon of Queen's Universi-ty, author of a study into drug prescrip-tion costs. The OPA is also concerned that the government's proposal to allow inspectors, or any other person Inspectors, or any other person appointed by them, to enter pharmacies and doctor's offices and seize all records, including patient medical records, represents an invation of the rights of individual citizens and 'could expose every customer of a pharmacy to the possibility of misuse of confidential medical information with possibility of missisof confidential medical information with adequate safeguards."

A further cause for concern, according to the OPA, is that the legislation will 'seriously diminish' the access of ontario citizens to the judgement, professional expertise and assistance of pharmacists to which they have become accustomed.
